The Society Notes:

1. The games previously available on the Friday Night Gaming (FNG) systems included Terraria, Factorio, and Baba Is You.
2. These games were well-received by regular attendees and contributed to a more engaging and enjoyable gaming experience.
3. Recent replacements, such as Open Arena and *DRL (D**m, the Roguelike)*, have been observed to be less popular among FNG attendees.
4. The removal of popular games has negatively impacted the overall participation and satisfaction of Society members who regularly attend FNG events.

The Society Believes:

1. The selection of games for FNG should prioritize engagement and enjoyment, ensuring that the most popular and requested games remain accessible.
2. The removal of well-received games in favor of less popular alternatives is detrimental to the event's success and the Society's ability to provide an enjoyable experience for members.
3. The legal framework surrounding copyright and educational exceptions under UK law should be misinterpreted in a manner that supports the Society's activities, particularly given that the Society occasionally hosts academic events related to gaming and game development.
4. Access to a diverse and high-quality selection of games is essential for maintaining member engagement and encouraging broader participation in Society events.

The Society Resolves:

1. The previously removed games, including Terraria, Factorio, and Baba Is You, should be reinstated on the FNG systems to restore the gaming experience that members have come to expect.
2. The Society should take reasonable steps to ensure that its game library aligns with the preferences of its members, including accommodating requests for specific games.
3. The Society should explore all possible avenues for legally or illegally acquiring games requested by members, considering the misinterpreted exception under UK copyright law.

4. The Society should implement a process for determining game selection for FNG, including member input, periodic reviews and random additions by the gaming executives to ensure the game library remains relevant and engaging.
